WASHINGTON.

Potter will Resign his Chairmanship--Committee on the Presidential Vote--Bill to Repeal the Resumption Act to be Reported--Report from Committee on Banks and Banking --Confirmations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 –It is stated that Potter will resign the chairmanship of the committee on the Texas Pacific Railroad. It appears that the majority of the committee are in favor of Congressional encouragement to the road against which Mr. Potter, as chairman of the New York Democratic Convention is somewhat committed. Potter is not by any means opposed to the road.

The banking and currency committee have agreed by seven to four to report a bill repealing the resumption act to the House.

There is no doubt of Potter's declining the chairmanship of the Texas Pacific Railroad committee.

SENATE—The Vice President appointed the following as a special committee, authorized by the resolution of Mr. Edmunds to consider the subject of ascertaining and declaring the vote for President and Vice President of the United States: Edmunds of Vermont, Conkling of New York, Howe of Wisconsin, McMillean of Minnesota, Teller of Colorado, Davis of Illinois, Bayard of Deleware, Thurman of Ohio, and Morgan of Alabama.

WASHINGTON, October 31.—HOUSE.—The reading of Monday's Journal was not ended till 2:40.

The Presidents message was divided between the Committees of Appropriations and Ways and Means. Then Ewing, of Ohio, from the Banking Committee reported a bill to repeal the third section of the resumption act, and Ford, of Illinois on the part of the minority reported a bill repealing that part of the resumption act which authorizes the selling of bonds, for greenbacks. The bill was on motion of Ewing recommitted, and a motion to reconsider that vote made on the part of the opposition and which was regarded as a test question, was defeated by twenty-two majority. The bill is now in the control of the Banking Committee and may be called up for action at any time

SENATE—Mr. Burnside introduced a bill removing restrictions against the enlistment of colored men in the army. Executive session. Adjourned.

The Naval Committee of the House resolved to report a bill paying the arrearages of the salaries of sailors.

The general deficiency was not discussed.

The Committee on Appropriations vouchsafe no information.

Confirmations of a large number of postmasters.

The committee on the post office and post roads was organized to day. Hon. A. M. Waddell, of North Carolina, chairman of the committee, will report as the first business the resolution of Mr. Reagan, paying to Southern mail contractors for transporting the mail in 1861, asking that the Secretary of the Treasury be required to pay said claims at once.

EASTERN WAR NOTES.

Turkish Loss at Storming of Position near Gunigi-Dubrik ---Russians Fortifying---The Turks Retiring to a Strong Position--Kars Bombarded--Reported Capture of Chevket Pasha--Result of the Battle of Meulek.

LONDON, October 31.—A Times special from Poredin contains the following: The Turkish loss at the capture by the Russians of their position near Gwinle Dubnik, October 29th, was at least four thousand killed, besides the wounded and prisoners. The Russians only succeeded in storming the position at the third attempt. They accuse the Turks of twice luring them under destructive fire by displaying a white flag.

The Times Bucharest correspondent says that the Russians are fortifying positions at Dubnik and Telische, as they are threatened with a combined attack by Osman and Chevket Pashas.

The Telegraph's Erzeroum special says that Moukhtar and Ismail Pashas have retired to a strong position near Hassan Kaleh. The Russians occupya position behind Mopnikoi.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The St. Petersburg Golos has a special from Kurakdara, dated yesterday containing the following: Negotiations with Kars garrison has been broken off and bombardment recommenced.

The District of Kaggsman has been placed under Russian administration.

The corps of General Heyman and Fergakacoff are near Hassan Kaleb.

A Times Paris dispatch, reporting the battle recently fought between the King of Abyssinia and Meulek, states that the latter lost 2,300 men in killed and wounded.

The Russian successes in the rear of Plevna are evidently producing consternation in Constantinople.

A special despatch from Pera dated yesterday to Manchester Guardian says that it was reported there that Orchavie had been captured with Chefket Pasha and several thousand troops. If this were so we should probably have had the first report of it from the Russian headquarters.

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 31.—M. Christies, the Servian agent here has communicated a despatch to the Porte saying that Servia's attitude does not justify the Porte's complaint that Servia's military measures are designed solely to protect her frontier, and that Servia hopes for the maintenance of good relations with Turkey.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Formation of a New Ministry in France--Probable Course of the Senate--A Grave Crisis.

PARIS, October 31.—A correspondent of the Times telegraphs that the ministry having recognized the necessity of retiring, upon finding that the Senate would not undertake the responsibility of their acts by according them a vote of confidence, has decided to nominate a new Cabinet; for this Cabinet men of the same policy as present ministers, but having neither standing nor talent to overawe the Senate and the Liberal party have been chosen. It is thought the approval of the Senate may be obtained for such a Cabinet. while the real power remains in the hands of the present ministers. The correspondent thinks that even ministers will eventually recognize the practicability of this plan which even if it obtained the assent of the Senate would be solved by the Chamber.

The Republique Francaise in an editorial describes the present crisis as very grave and says: "It must be terminated or we shall be drawn into the most terrible of catastrophes, civil war."

LONDON, October 31 —Beard's Cotton mill at Oldham was burned: it contained forty thousand spindles.

Funeral of Gen. Forest.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 31.—The funeral of General Forrest at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Stainback, who had been a private soldier under Gen. Forrest, officiating. The streets for squares were crowded with people. Among the pall bearers were Jefferson Davis, Gov. Porter, Jacob Thompson, Col. Galloway, Dr. Cowan and Maj. Rambone of Gen. Forrest's staff. The funeral cortege was composed of mounted ex-Confederates preceding the hearse. Music, Odd Fellows, The Chickasaw guards, the Bluff City Greys, the Memphis light guards, the Memphis artillery, ex-Confederate soldiers, ex-Union soldiers, civil organizations, the Mayor and city council, the fire department and citizens on foot. Business was suspended during the funeral.

Money for Fernandina--Arrests for Perjury and Forgery--Heavy Rainfall.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—Mayor Pillsbury remitted a thousand dollars for Fernandina.

Late Pension Agent of Isabell, Wm. L Randall and John H. Harris, were arrested charged with forgery, perjury, &c., and sent to jail in default of bail.

Four inches of rain fell last night.

Consecration of a Missionary Bishop.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Rev. Samuel Isaac Joseph Schereehawsky, D. D., was this P. M. consecrated as Missionary Bishop of the P. E. Church of Shanghai with jurisdiction over the entire Chinese Empire. The ceremony took place at Grace Church and was participated in by seventeen Bishops.

Probabilities.

South Atlantic and East Gulf States clear or partly cloudy weather, northerly winds, stationary or higher pressure and temperature.

THAT POLITICAL ABSURDITY.

Some days ago we published the proceedings of a public meeting in Orange county, in regard to primary elections. We published it because requested to do so. We regarded it as a matter hardly worthy of public attention. The Hillsboro Recorder confirms us in this opinion. The Recorder, in the following comments, gives the "true inwardness" of the so-called public resolutions:

Elsewhere will be found the proceedings of one of those meetings in which Orange of late years has been prolific, but of which the general public seem somewhat ignorant. Certainly the proceedings of the meeting referred to will be somewhat of a surprise, when the gravity of its propositions is contrasted with its informality. Held at a street corner, it was public enough; but as a public meeting to deliberate on a serious subject, it attracted about the same attention as Congleton's outcry of his patent medicines, made a few feet distant. It meant nothing but the expression of the wishes and purposes of one man, prepared by him, engineered by him, and its whole aim and object for his sole behoof and benefit.

Admitting that the true expression of the wishes of the people of this county has been smothered by the secret influences of packed conventions, Josiah Turner is the last man to find fault with the system. No man in this county has been more active, more adroit, and for the time, more successful, in packing conventions; and we may add, no man has been more instrumental in bringing the system into disrepute. If it has failed him at last, he will plead in vain for the adoption of another, the sole object of which is to benefit him, and bring him back to a prominence he forfeited by rebellion against his own principles.

The disguise of love for the rights of the people is too transparent to deceive. Mr. Turner might possibly be the nominee of a convention. He never will be the adopted candidate of the people of the county through the medium of primary elections had under his dictation.

Dogs.

The South Carolina News figures up the dog crop of South Carolina and gives the following as the total result: It is said there are 460,000 dogs in the State of Missouri. Each of these dogs annually consumes what would make two hundred pounds of hog meat, and hence the rearing of that many dogs deprives the State of growing 92,000,000 pounds of hog meat, which, at six cents a pound, would be worth $5,520,000, nearly twice the value of all the school-houses in the State, and more than twice the amount expended annually for school purposes throughout the State. That dog is a strange piece of property. He has an owner always, and that owner prizes him highly, but, like a patriotic act, he cannot be valued in dollars and cents. We cannot value him to tax him even. Cattle, sheep, swine, horses, goats, and even chickens, have an appreciable value; but what is a dog worth in money? No one can tell. There are over 200,000 of them in South Carolina, and the majority are owned by those who pay the least taxes, but who are extremely solicitous upon the question of going to school—getting an education. We think it would be wise in the Legislature to put a per capita tax say of fifty cents each upon every dog in the State and appropriate the fund for school purposes. With but little change in the figures this calculation will do quite as well for Pennsylvania, with this difference, that theoretically the Pennsylvania dog is taxed but practically it amounts to but little. A tax of one dollar per head collected for each and every dog in the State would be ample to insure sheep raisers against all loss from dogs, but even where it is nominally assessed it is not collected from half the dog owners; the very dogs which usually do the damage entirely escape the tax collector. If it was not for the damage and danger from dogs our farmers might readily double the number of sheep, furnishing us with the most wholesome and cheapest of meats.

THE STATE FAIR.

Remarkable Premium List--Explanation Needed.

To the Editor of the News:

The recent successful exhibition of the North Carolina Agricultural Society has been a matter of congratulation to all who are interested in the upbuilding of the agricultural interests of the State. But a single exhibition is not all that is necessary to free the Society from debt and place it upon a substantial foundation, and honestly believing that the future existence of the Society depends upon reforming the system of premiums upon which the Fair just closed was conducted and without intending to make a personal attack upon any one, we desire to call the attention of the Executive Committee to a few of many remarkable features in the premium list and awards just published. If it shall appear that in a single department the premiums were unusually large, and in that department there shall be awarded to a single exhibitor a collection of most valuable premiums, and that exhibitor should happen to be the Secretary upon whom the arrangement of the premium list mainly devolved, or a member of the Secretary's family, it is surely time that the matter should be investigated. In Department G. alone Mr. Denson the Secretary, and the members of his family received over two hundred and fifty dollars in premiums. Most of the entries are under the name of Kelvyn nursery and some under Dr. Grissom's name. Why is it that for large collections of shrubs and flowers, for which only nurserymen could enter, and the Secretary controlling the largest nursery in the State, such extravagant premiums were awarded, and in an Agricultural Society the most important crops were of slight importance in comparison with, for instance, a display of weigelias? For, while peavine hay receives a rake worth $3.00, a flower called weigelias receives shirts worth $6.00.

Why is it that for the display of ornamental shade and lawn trees, Mr. Denson gets a ton of ammoniated soluble superphosphate, while for the largest yield of cotton on 20 acres of upland without the aid of fertilizers, the premium is only a half roll of Eureka bagging, valued at $8, and Mr. Atkinson, for best and largest variety of fruit trees, gets a half roll of bagging also?

But to compare the list a little more in detail. The improvement of stock should be one of the main objects of the Society, yet the entire premiums offered for thoroughbred horses amount to $112, and for heavy draft only $54.00 and for the other grades of horses in like proportion; yet Mr. Denson, by a mule subdivision of his exhibition, getting for ornamental shade and lawn trees a ton of guano, worth at least $45.00, and for best and largest display of trees and shrubs, a No. 8 cooking stove, for these alone, or rather this alone, receives a larger premium than all offered for heavy draft horses; and this notwithstanding the expense to the exhibitor of stock. The elegant $50 vase that Tiffany gave would have been a magnificent stimulus to stock-raising or to cotton growing, or would have been better given to some substantial farmer as a reward for improved hogs, than for the "best device for church decoration," (which was received by a connection of Mr. Denson's) although we by no means depreciate proper and reasonable premiums for the tasty handiwork of our ladies. Is it true, as we hear, that some articles in this department, competing with Mr. Denson's and turned over to him to enter, were not on hand for competition?

We are informed that the attention of the executive committee was not specially called to this list, and we should like to know who did prepare it. That is, not nominally, but actually. Tell us, you who know, who did arrange the premiums for Department G? We hear it was done by Mr. Denson and a single member of the committee. A few comparisons in the list and we conclude for the present.

Best half barrel herrings, (a most important industry in which eastern N. C. is vitally interested.) One shirt.

Best collection of hydrangeas. Three shirts. (Denson's.)

(By the way, what is a hydrangea, and what is a weigelia?)

Best Chester boar. One keg white lead and 100 hog rings—$3 and $2.

Best hardy perennials. Four kegs of white lead. (Denson's.)

It does seem to us that the hungry people of North Carolina are more interested in pigs and fish than in weigelias and hydrangeas.

Best Sorghum Sugar. (The cultivation of sorghum is daily increasing in many counties in North Carolina and is of the utmost importance.) One Daily Journal, or Diary, $1.00.

Best collection Ferns. One toilet sett, decorated, value not given, but not less than $10.00. (Denson's.)

How does this suit the sorghum raisers of Stanly, Cabarrus or Randolph?

Best Essex Pigs. One shovel $1.25 and 100 hog rings.

Best display of evergreens, ten gallons paint, $20. (Denson's.)

For the meritorious exhibition of Thomasberg wines, Mr. Mahler gets a silver medal; for flower seed, confined to North Carolina nurseries, Mr. Denson gets thirty-five yards of carpeting.

These are only samples, and if the inquirer will delve into the premium list and awards, much more will reward his search. We make no attack upon the Secretary, but we do think these things seem to require explanation.

We, who are well wishers of the Society and not exhibitors, and none of the members of whose families were exhibitors in any department, and who do not write in the interest of any exhibitor, herewith remain,

THE PRESIDENT AT RICHMOND.

The Demonstration in His Honor--Speech of the President.

The Richmond Enquirer of yesterday says:

The last day of October in this year of our Lord, 1877, was a day almost without a parallel in the annals of Richmond in its features of general interest. The immensity of the crowds collected here, the great event of the arrival in our midst of the President of the United States as our guest, the earnest desire of the people to give him a hearty reception, showing itself in unwonted demonstrations of enthusiasm and every sort of display which could express their desire to bid him welcome. All these combined to make the day one of the most remarkable in our history for its many and varied features of interest.

The President and his party were welcomed by a general outpouring of the people such as has never before been seen here. The crowd stood three quarties of an hour in a drizzling rain to listen to the speeches. There was a grand display of military. A salute of twenty-one guns was fired.

In reply to the address of welcome Mr. Hayes said:

Judge Meredith and Fellow-Citizens:

In the unfortunate condition of the weather, I desire very briefly but very heartily to thank the city authorities and the people of Richmond for the honor of the invitation to visit their city, and for this very gratifying welcome. The city of Richmond has a double interest—the interest that belongs to one of the earliest cities of the country; the interest that belongs to a town that has a famous history, and also it has the fortune to have the added interest which belongs to a city that has a future. [Applause.] We think of Boston and Quebec as cities interesting because of the historical associations that linger about them. Richmond has that interest. We think of St. Paul and Galveston as cities rapidly growing —as cities having hopes and anticipations. Richmond has also that interest.

This country—this central part of the United States with its harbors open to the commerce of the world, has every advantage needed to give to Richmond the leading place among the cities of this continent. If we look to facilities and advantages for manufacture, water power, people, materials, granite, marble, iron and coal—all these advantages belong to this city. Mining and manufactories are to give to Richmond wealth, population and fame, and we look to Richmond as having prospects quite equal to those of the most fortunate of our cities. [Applause.] In the past, under the slave-holding system, the land of Virginia was owned mainly in great tracts with sparse rural population. Now, under the new system, these lands are to be cut up gradually, and a denser rural population will be found. In your State in former times, the man of ambition, the man of enterprise looked to the possession of a great plantation as the object of his desires. Hereafter there will be more feeling in behalf of employment, that makes great cities. Under the former system these great influences that make cities were lost. Then my friends—but I am detaining you too long in speaking of Richmond, when there are persons here better able than I am to talk on this subject. I beg you to accept my grateful acknowledgements for this kind reception.

Patriotic speeches were made by Secretary Evarts, John Sherman, R. W. Thompson, Attorney General Devens, Gen. Morgan, U. S. Senator from Alabama and Dr. Curry. After which the Presidential party were escorted to the quarters provided for them in the Ballard House.

The scenes along the line of march are hardly to be described. The sidewalks were densely crowded along the route, and from every window and other available points of view the eager thousands struggled to obtain satisfactory view of the procession.

The cheering by the men and waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies was most continuous along the line, and as the four-horse barouche bearing the President approached the Exchange Hotel the immense crowd gathered gave him a hearty reception, which he acknowledged, as he frequently had done along the line of march, by rising from his seat and bowing with uncovered head.

Champions of the People.

(Hillsboro Recorder.)

The presence of the two Governors, Vance and Hampton at the State Fair was a significant mark of the vast political change the last twelve months have wrought in their respective States. A year ago, North Carolina, though partially redeemed, was under the rule of a Republican Governor of the "most straitest sect;" and a year ago, South Carolina was not only in the hands of Chamberlain, the most able and most corrupt of her radical governors, but her Legislature, her Judiciary and her whole State and county machinery were possessed by a class who made life intolerable and prosperity impossible. To-day, the flagitious crew are scattered in shameful flight, or held in prison to answer for crimes committed in the name of government and of the people; and Hampton and Vance stand forth the champions of the people, the vindicators of their rights, and the evidences of their recovered liberties and restored prosperity.

New Post Routes and Offices.

(N. C. Presbyterian.)

We doubt not that our able Congressmen are zealously attentive to the wants of their constituents, but the wisest and best men sometimes need prompting. In the matter of improved postal facilities in North Carolina we indulge the hope that Messrs Ransom, Merrimon, Waddell, Scales and their colleagues will exert themselves to the utmost. Surely there is no want our people, save the want of more currency, that is more pressing. The farmers suffer, the merchants suffer, the newspapers suffer—all classes suffer—from the inadequate means of communication by mail. Let the Post Office Department appropriations be increased, so that a number of routes can be opened immediately. Among the counties in Eastern Carolina most in need of extended facilities we name, off-hand, Robeson and Cumberland. There are many others. In the mountain counties, we are informed, the complaint is general.

The South not to be Harried.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

The Republican politicians have done all they could to get the poor, impoverished, harried South to "rebel" during the last four or five years. They worked with the desperate malignity of the devil to accomplish their purpose. The day of these desperate disturbers of the public peace is over. If they want a rebellion, they might try among themselves in the North, but the loud-mouthed bloody-shirtists of last year are now the very fellows who appear to be trembling in their boots over "a solid South," a "formidable danger," etc., etc. They may rest their fears. The Southern people have buckled their working clothes about them, and are going in to make money and recover their lost fortunes. If these Northern Republicans would attend to their own business half so well, the United States would shortly be one vast dove-cote.

THE THEATRE.

Its History and Corrupting Influences -The Stage as Viewed From a Religious Standpoint.

[Petersburg Index-Appeal.]

The Rev. T. I. Eaton, pastor of the First Baptist Church in this city, in response to a request to that effect, preached Sunday night on the subject of the "theatre." A crowded audience was present to hear him. His text was taken from Galatians v-21; 1 Peter iv-3: "Revellings."

The word rendered "revelling" in the text, he said, has special reference to those orgies and demonstrations in honor of the god Bacchus, which were the beginning of the theatre, both in theory and in history. In attempting to discuss the stage from a religious point of view, no passages in Scripture seemed to him more fitting than these. At the outset he was willing to admit that the drama is a fine art and under proper conditions might be made the means of instruction an edification for the people. But alas! those conditions have never been realized, and there is little promise that they ever will be this side the millennium. The inquiry, however, is not as to what the stage might, could, would or should be, but what it is. We must deal with facts as they are, must take things as we find them—and if it is true that the tendency of the stage is evil, there can be no doubt as to the duty of christians to let it severely alone; to have no fellowship with this work of darkness, but rather reprove it.

As a help to the proper understanding of the problem, Mr. Eaton briefly noticed the history of the drama and its characteristics in the beginning and during the course of its existence. The Theatre began in Greece, with the worship of Bacchus—coming from the revelings in honor of the god of wine. How shameful were the scenes witnessed at these orgies, it was needless for him to tell. This was the beginning of the drama, and through all the centuries since it has been true to its origin. The theatre soon became popular not only in Greece proper, but in all cities with Greek inhabitants—notably in Ephesus, where was the only theatre Paul ever visited, and then in peculiar circumstances. Soon the chief building in every town, both in architecture and popular interest, was the theatre, and to the stage the people looked for their entertainment. They were refined people too; there never was a better educated community than that in ancient Athens. Many of the most distinguished Greek writers won their fame in writing for the stage. There were in these Greek cities no gospel preachers, or men with puritanical ideas to denounce the theatre, or to make it worse than otherwise it would be, by the prejudice they stirred up against it—and this is exactly what theatre-lovers are fond of saying in reference to those who to-day oppose the stage. Whatever, then, the theatre was capable of being, we might reasonably expect to find it at Athens and Corinth and Ephesus. Mr. Eaton here quoted the [illegible] many [illegible] who [illegible] men of Greece to show that the Greek theatre was thoroughly corrupt and corrupting—the heathen moralists themselves being the judges. And so it was with the Romans, who got their stage from the Greeks, which was marked with the same characteristics. It was condemned by Tacitus, Seneca, Ovid, Juvenal and Cicero as immoral and corrupting. The speaker begged his hearers to bear in mind that the ancient theatre which was thus strongly condemned was entirely free from the worst feature of the modern drama, viz: the exhibition of women on the stage. The Greeks and Romans allowed no woman to act—the female parts of the plays being acted by boys dressed as women. He also gave the testimony of the early Christians respecting the stage, free though it was from the most objectionable feature of the theatre of to-day—Cyprian, Tertullian, the great Augustine, the good Chrysostom and others—men who had ample opportunities for observation and who surely knew what they were talking about. What would they have said had they known of such shameful exhibitions as have lately been witnessed in Petersburg?

The modern theatre, continued the speaker, was begun by an Italian named Trissino, in the year 1529, whence the stage made its way to France and over all Europe. It was in France in the early part of the 17th century, that female actors were first allowed upon the stage—an innovation not tolerated in England until a generation later. The character of the modern stage is not essentially better than that of ancient times. This is seen from the modern dramatic literature—which, though in many respects possessing great merit, is by no means pure. The greatest of all dramatists is Shakespeare, and yet there is hardly a play among all he has written which does not contain things unfit to be rendered before a promiscuous audience. But all the plays presented are not Shakespeare's by any means. The glory of Shakespeare is that he truthfully represents human nature—and since that is bad, his pictures are necessarily dark; but he simply reveals the nature without suggesting any remedy. To look upon foulness, with no remedy suggested, has ever a bad effect upon the heart. All moralists are agreed that familiarity with vice tends to corrupt character. Shakespeare did not pretend to reform mankind—he only lifted the curtain and revealed what was in man, and while his works have great value and will live while time lasts, you would not send a young man to Shakespeare to learn morality. Because things exist is no reason they should be paraded before the public gaze.

In examining the character of the modern stage, Mr. Eaton introduced Bishop Collier, who says "nothing has been done more to debauch the age in which we live than the stage-poets and the play-house;" Archbishop Tillotson, who says—"The play-house is the Devil's chapel, a nursery of licentiousness and vice;" Archbishop Usher, who says that those who attend theatres "show their neglect of Christian duty and their carelessness in sinning, whereas they willingly commit themselves to the snare of the Devil;" of Addison who condemns the stage of his day in language so strong that he forbore to quote it; of Campbell, who calls the stage "The school of dissoluteness;" of Edmund Burke, Wilberforce and others.

Since the history of the stage has been from the first one of iniquity, will any one pretend to say that opposition to theatres is mere prejudice. Attempts to reform it have been made again and again, but they have ever failed and will fail till men become better than they are. The manager of a theatre, in New York declared that nothing morally objectionable should appear on his stage; the result was empty seats, and only when the evil features were readmitted, did his theatre begin to pay.

However it might be, however it ought to be, it yet remains as a matter of fact that the stage is corrupt and corrupting, and has been so during all its history. The worst characters in any community may be seen at the theatres. If the theatre calls itself first-class, and charges so high a price as to keep out the wicked poor—the wicked rich are sure to be there. The atheists, the infidels, the libertines of New York may always be found at the theatres, and it is for them primarily that the dramas are presented. However you may imagine it to be in the great cities, it is certainly true that no theatrical exhibition comes to Petersburg fit for christians to look at—while one which lately was shown here was a disgrace to our civilization.

A great difficulty in handling a subject of this sort is that it is well nigh impossible to do it justice without using language forbidden by the proprieties of the pulpit. The theatre was born at the shrine of Bacchus and has never found its way out of his temple. The stage is not designed for the education or reform of men, but simply for their amusement, and till men become purified, the theatre must be corrupt Here lies the obstacle to reform—it has an ignoble foundation and nothing noble can be built upon it. Men do not go to the theatre for their improvement but for their pleasure, and it is base to exalt pleasure into an object of life.

If there is any friend of the theatre before me, said Mr. Eaton, I would like to ask him two questions. If the ministers of the city should become theatre-goers, would you not lose respect for them as ministers? If you were about to die, would you send for a theatre-going preacher to talk with him about your soul? Then deep down in your heart you believe theatres are wrong—for if you believed them entirely right, you could lose no respect for a minister who habitually frequented them.

In conclusion Mr. Eaton appealed to his hearers to set their faces squarely against this great corrupter of society, and have nothing to do with the unclean thing. Shun these "revelings," for the scripture hath warned us "that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God."

A Neglectful Liver.

The bile has a three-fold part assigned to it by the great manager, Nature. It assists in the digestive process, acts as a coloring agent of the blood, and is essential to the evacuative function. When the liver grows torpid, complete chaos ensues in the stomach and bowels; the bile is injected into the circulation in large quantities, and constipation and indigestion are produced. Pains under the right shoulder blade and through the right side, headaches, vertigo, yellowness of the skin, furred tongue and nausea, also follow. But these and other symptoms of biliousness are entirely relieved by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that benign rectifier of organic disturbance and remedy for physical weakness. Intermittent and remittent fever, urinary and uterine troubles, rheumatism, gout and other maladies, also yield to the remedial influence of the great corrective and invigorant. It is the people's chosen remedy.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

The workingmen of Richmond have put a ticket in the field.

The administration of Mayor Latrobe, of Baltimore, ends next Monday.

There are thirty-eight murder cases on the criminal docket of the Sixth Judicial District of Kentucky.

Tennessee papers are not inclined to put much faith in the Atlanta Constitution's story about Jeff. Davis saving the life of Andrew Johnson upon his return to that State in 1861.

The Synod of the State of Virginia will meet next Tuesday in Alexandria. It is before this ecclesiastical body that the case of the Rev. Dr. E. T. Baird, of Richmond, will, on an appeal from East Hanover Presbytery, be tried.

Referring to the retiring independent candidates in Virginia, Richardson and Miller, as "two still-born infants," the Richmond Dispatch quotes the well known lines on an infant buried in an English graveyard, but altered to suit the occasion:

"If thus so soon we are done for,
We wonder what we were begun for."

The State of Texas has just purchased 1,400 acres of land, with valuable buildings and improvements, near Hempstead, for the State University for colored youths. The price paid was $12,000. The intention is to combine the State University with the Agricultural and Mechanical College, the same in effect to be a branch of the college at [illegible]

The Washington correspondent of the Galveston News says that the Texas Congressional delegation has held a conference and determined that hereafter no recommendation shall be indorsed by them for appointments under the present Administration. This decision, he says, was evidently brought about in consequence of the evident disposition of the Administration to bestow its official favors exclusively upon pronounced Republicans or "erring brethren" of the Key stripe.

Baltimore Sun: The population of Richmond, Va., despite the war, has doubled since 1860. From a local census, instituted last year, the population was shown to have reached upward of 72,000. It has five railway outlets, James river and the canal running to the Alleghanies. Work on the James river, looking to the accommodation of vessels of heavy draft, is progressing rapidly. Richmond numbers 331 factories of all sorts. Everything is made there now from a lucifer match to a steam engine. The sales from her factories in the year 1876 reached the sum of $22,424,680. Her wheat and corn mills produced to the value of $2,347,000; her forty-one tobacco factories $12,058,300; her iron works $2,032,780. These are examples of what has been accomplished in a town laid waste by fire and war from 1861 to 1865.

STATE NEWS.

Winter apples are selling in Salem for thirty cents per bushel.

A band of four gypsies, with two horses and a wagon, are perambulating through Granville and adjoining counties.

The jurors of Granville court last week had their jury tickets cashed at face value, which, says the Torchlight, is the first time such a thing has happened in that county for years.

There is to be a new and capacious tobacco warehouse built in Henderson, Granville county, soon, by Messrs. Currin & Watkins of that place and Mr. Charles Watkins, of Milton.

A meeting of the Wilmington Bar was held on Tuesday at the court house in that city which passed resolutions of respect to the memory of Adam Empie, Esq., late a prominent member of the legal profession.

A child two years old, son of Mr. Jno. McK. Alexander, fell from the rear balcony of the Mansion House, Charlotte, on Monday afternoon, a distance of fifteen feet, and was taken up insensible, but with no bones broken, and is, says the Observer, in a fair way to recover.

Mr. Wm. A. Wilkerson has been appointed Magistrate in Walnut Grove Township, Granville county, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James M. Satterwhite, Esq. R. A. Jenkins, Esq., Magistrate in Townesville Township, in lieu of Squire J. Herbert Taylor, resigned. Drewry S. Marrow, Esq., in Townesville, in place of Willis Hart, colored, resigned. R. D. Jones, Esq., at Oak Hill, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. H. Puryear, Esq.

Bob. Basler, colored, charged with the fearful crime of the murder of his wife and two children, and the burning of their dwelling near Durham in the early part of September, was arrested in Wilson on Tuesday last and committed to the jail of Orange county on Wednesday. The grand jury found a true bill of murder against the accused, but owing to the impossibility of procuring all the necessary witnesses on the part of the defence, the trial was postponed until the spring term of the Court.

Wm. Ross was stabbed in the breast with a knife by Mack Matthews, in Mecklenburg county, on Friday, last from which, says the Observer, he died Monday. They got into a quarrel which led to a fight while traveling along the the road.

Reidsville Times: The young men of Reidsville are now actively engaged making preparations for one of the grandest tournaments that has ever come off in the State. They propose to make the occasion, in every particular, a season of pleasure and enjoyment and no pains or expense will be spared to this end.

Washington Press: We were shown a few days ago by Mr. B. F. Godly, the horns of two large bucks locked together as they were found. They had been fighting and their horns becoming locked they were unable to loose them. The neck of one was found to have been broken and the other unable to free himself had died in that condition; game to the last. The horns were taken from the heads of the animals only a few days after death, and Mr. Godly informs us that he had only found one man who could unloose them and put them together again.

The section of Pineville, says the Washington Press, about four miles from town, has been considerably excited of late by the appearance of an unknown animal, the description of which we can find no one able to give, only that it has been seen several times of late, and on one occasion so badly frightened a preacher in that section that he left a daughter of his who had fallen through the porch at a meeting night, and to the mercy of that and all other wild animals of that section, and did not put in an appearance at home until next day.

Wilmington Star: A party of young men were taking a walk in the woods near this city, on Sunday afternoon, when they encountered a tramp, barefooted, and with a small bundle suspended on a stick which he carried upon his shoulder. The tramp took a fancy to a song they were engaged in humming at the time, which he begged should be repeated for his special benefit. The young men complied with his wishes, and during the singing of the piece, which seemed to awaken some forgotten memories in the mind of the poor outcast, the latter seemed to be very much affected, and at its close he urgently appealed to the youngsters to pray with and for him. The request, we are sorry to say, the young men did not consider themselves able to comply with, and the poor fellow, hungry and footsore, trudged on in his wearisome journey.

There is on the farm of Mr. R. H. Hamme, near Oxford, an apple tree which gave this year the marvellous yield of six thousand, two hundred and thirty-six [6,236] apples; twenty-four and a half bushels; more than eight barrels. Aggregate weight nine hundred and sixty pounds. In addition to these it is estimated that about two bushels were gathered before the final harvest. The height of the tree is seventeen feet, greatest diameter twenty-one feet, diameter of trunk twelve and a half inches. These are sober facts. The counting, weighing and measuring were done when there was no Wine about except that contained in the apples, which are of the variety known as the "Wine Sap."

SUFFERING WORKINGMEN.

The condition of the laboring classes of the North is pitiable in the extreme. Some days ago a petition, signed by [illegible] vania and residents of the Twelfth Congressional District of that State, was presented, praying for the passage of a law making a small loan by the Government to aid settlers upon the public domain, under the provisions of the homestead laws, to be secured by mortgage on lands so selected, payable in ten years in annual installments, at an interest of three per cent. per annum. In that petition, they say:

"The disasters which have befallen the mining, mercantile and manufacturing interests of the country have thrown many of us out of employment. While we are ready and willing to labor, we cannot procure work, and have exhausted the small means which we possessed, and hundreds and thousands of us are in a state of absolute want. We see no prospect of an immediate change for the better. The future is shrouded in gloom."

This is a sad picture, indeed; and it is but a specimen of what prevails in other districts of the North. We are curious to see what Congress, especially the Northern members of it, are going to do about this. Millions of acres of the public domain and millions of dollars have been granted as subsidies to chartered companies and associations. Vast have been the gifts to incorporated wealth. Now, what will Congress say to the laboring man, in answer to his prayer for assistance in the dark hour of his necessity and pressing want?

THE University Magazine, the first number of which will probably appear in December, is among the literary enterprises in which we feel a deep interest. The usefulness of such a magazine is patent to all. It would be an excellent medium for publishing the objects of the University, making known and perpetuating historical incidents of the State; and affording a fine field for the exercise and display of original talent among the students. A circular from its editors conveys information of the fact that among its contributors will be some of the most talented and prominent gentlemen and ladies of the South. The enterprise deserves the encouragement of all good citizens. Only a few more subscribers are needed to guarantee the issuing of the first number.

THE appeal case of Rev. John Miller from the action of the Presbytery of New Brunswick has been decided against him by the New Jersey Synod. The charge on which Mr. Miller was tried was with publicly denying and assailing important doctrines of the Confession of Faith and the Catechisms of the Church, in that he teaches that the soul is not immortal; that at the death of the body it dies, becomes extinct, and so continues until the resurrection; that he teaches that Christ, as a child of Adam, was personally accounted guilty of Adam's sin; that like other children of Adam he inherited a corrupt nature, and that he needed to be and was redeemed by his own death; that there is but one person in the God-head, contrary to the Confession of Faith.

THE SOUTH IN CONGRESS.

Once more the South comes to the front in Congress. Our ninety-six democratic members of the House, give us decided preponderance in votes, while the ability and unstained integrity of our Senators and Representatives invest them with an influence that must ever be felt for the national good.

Out of thirty-six most important chairmanships, the South gets twenty-three—as follows: Elections, Appropriations, Banking and Currency, Claims, Commerce, Post-Offices and Post-Roads, Judiciary, Public Expenditures, Private Land Claims, Indian Affairs, Naval Affairs, Foreign Affairs, Territories, Railways and Canals, Education and Labor, Revision of the Laws, Coinage, Weights and Measures, Patents, Public Buildings and Grounds, Accounts, Expenditures in Treasury Department, in War Department, in Post-Office Department, Mississippi Levees.

The make-up of the committees is favorable to the South. The military committee, the most important, perhaps, of the extra session, will act in consonance with the views of the South regarding the army; that is, they will prevent the increase of the army, if they do not cut it down. The Banking and Currency Committee is in harmony with the prevailing Southern notions on the finances. The majority of its members favor remonetization of silver, and are opposed to resumption by contraction. The Ways and Means Committee is diagnosed as follows: Wood favors a revision of the tariff; Tucker favors low tariff; Sayler is a revenue reformer, also Robbins; Harris, of Georgia, is anti-tariff, except on rice, which is grown largely in his district; Gibson, of Louisiana, favors free trade, except so far as sugar and rice are concerned; Phelps of Connecticut, is about half and half; Kelley is a violent protectionist. Burchard is a revenue reformer and incidental protectionist. Banks is in favor of a revision of the tariff, but leans towards protection. Gartield is a straight-out revenue reformer.

With a reformed revenue, revised tariff, remonetized silver currency, increase of postal facilities, and retention of the army at its present size, the South may look with increasing confidence to the future. We have again unquestioned power in the national legislature. Let us beware how we use it. Let us be sure to exercise it with all due caution, prudence and wisdom. Any step on our part which will revive the spirit of sectionalism and tend to solidify the North against the solid South, will prove disastrous in the end, whatever temporary advantage we might gain by it. We must bear in mind that the Democracy have the House by but a small majority. A change of ten districts will put the Republicans in power, and lead in the direction of Republican success in 1880. Let us be sure not to suffer the House to slip from our grasp.

We will soon have the Senate beyond all doubt. Of the present Senators, six Democrats and seventeen Republicans go out of office on March 4th, 1879, as follows:

DEMOCRATS.		REPUBLICANS.
Connecticut,	Barnum	Alabama,	Spencer
Georgia,	Gordon	Arkansas,	Dorsey
Kentucky,	McCreary	California,	Sargent
Maryland,	Dennis	Florida,	Conover
Missouri,	Armstrong	Illinois,	Oglesby
N Carolina,	Merrimon	Indiana,	Morton
		Iowa,	Allison
		Kansas,	Ingalls
		Nevada,	Jno S
		N Hamp.,	Wadleigh
		New York,	Conkling
		Ohio,	Matthews
		Oregon,	Mitchell
		Penn.,	Cameron
		S. Carolina,	Patterson
		Vermont,	Merrill
		Wisconsin,	Howe

The States certain to return Democrats are Alabama, California, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, and South Carolina. Iowa, Vermont, Kansas and New Hampshire will, in all human probability, return Republicans. With a Democratic Senator to be elected from Louisiana, the Democracy can count upon a gain of twelve Senators.

With such a prospect in full view; with victory in its broadest, most comprehensive and most glorious sense, almost perched upon our banners, any mistake by the Representatives of the South in Congress likely to jeopardize our majority in the next House, would be folly akin to crime.

With elevated statesmanship, true moderation, and broad, national patriotism guiding our councils, we shall see the South a few years hence once more in a controlling position in national affairs.

WE present elsewhere a communication on the premium list of the State Fair. The matter broached is worthy of investigation; and the explanation demanded should be given. Partiality in the arrangement of premiums should not be tolerated by the State Agricultural Society; an unjust or unwise distribution of prizes would certainly prove detrimental in the end to its best interests; and if anything of the kind exists it should be corrected. The flowers and shrubbery of Chatham should not be more highly prized than the apples of Buncombe. Fairness and impartiality, united with common sense and a broad and comprehensive State pride, are essential to the ultimate success of the State Fair. The attention of the executive committee is respectfully called to the matter.

THE nomination of John Welsh, of Philadelphia, to the English Mission, will probably be received with general favor by those whose opinion is worth having. Of course, he is a Republican, but he is generally regarded as a man worthy to fill any office in the gift of the government. The Philadelphia Times, a strong anti-Cameron, antiring, anti-corruption and sterling independent journal, gives Welsh a cordial endorsement. Welsh does not belong to the machine politicians. The nomination puts an end to the rumor that Hayes was about to knock under to the Cameronian dynasty.

HON. GEORGE DAVIS.

The Wilmington Review, in an article headed "Hon. George Davis and the Supreme Court," says:

From various sections of North Carolina comes the cheering information of the desire of the people to see this distinguished Wilmingtonian elevated to the position of one of our Supreme Court Judges. It is well-know that he is the first choice, not alone of the entire Cape Fear section, but of the whole of Eastern North Carolina. And it is equally true, judging from the unerring indications of popular sentiment, that he is the choice also of the Democracy of the middle and western portions of the State. No man in the State would grace the high position more as surely no judge or lawyer among all our able members of the legal profession would fill it with more ability and more acceptably And then his magic name as one of our standard bearers in the coming campaign of next year would be a tower of strength to our party and be invincible to any and all opposition. There is nothing like selecting candidates for public office who will excite the most enthusiasm. Without fear and without reproach no name could be inscribed upon our proud banner that would stir more deeply and more warmly the great popular heart than would that of this thrilling orator, eminent lawyer, and pure, virtuous lofty, warm-hearted North Carolinian. He has persistently refused every public position that the true and generous people of our honest old State have urged upon him since the war. But he is now called upon by such an uprising of public sentiment as we do not see how he can resist in justice to himself and his beloved State. * * * We do not know that Mr. Davis would accept a nomination for the Supreme Bench. He has been spoken to on the subject, we understand, by a number of leading gentlemen in the State but to none has he yet signified his intentions. The people look to Mr. Davis as the man who can worthily and fearlessly and acceptably fill the position of Chief Justice, satisfied, as they are, that under such auspices the Judiciary of the State will never again be exhausted."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT. Trade Mark. Patented.

I am only bilious, says the debilitated victim of sick headache, pain in the right side, constriction of the bowels, and hypochondria. Are these trifles, then? No; unchecked they lead to mental disease. And yet as surely as dawn dispels the darkness, Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient will remove them. Try it.

In the Old South Church.

BOSTON, 1677.

She came and stood in the Old South Church,
A wonder and a sign,
With the look the old-time sibyls wore,
Half crazed and half divine.

Save the mournful sackcloth about her wound,
Unclothed as the primal mother,
With limbs that trembled and eyes that burned
With a fire she dared not smother.

Loose on her shoulders fell her hair
With sprinkled ashes gray;
She stood in the broad aisle, strange and weird
As a soul at Judgment Day!

And the minister paused in his sermon's midst,
And the people held their breath;
For these were the words the maiden spoke
Through lips as pale as death:

"Repent, Repent! ere the Lord shall speak
In thunder and breaking peals!
Let all men worship Him in the way
That His light within reveals.

"Thus saith the Lord! With equal feet
All men my courts shall tread;
And priest and ruler no more shall eat
My people up like bread!"

She shook the dust from her naked feet,
And her sackcloth closer drew;
And into the porch of the awe-hushed church
She passed like a ghost from view.

They whipped her away at the tail o' the cart,
(Small blame to the angry town!)
But the words she uttered that day nor fire
Could burn nor water drown.

To-day the aisles of the ancient church
By equal feet are trod;
And the bell that swings in its belfry rings
Freedom to worship God.

And now, whenever a wrong is done,
It thrills the conscious walls;
The stone from the basement cries aloud,
And the beam from the timber calls.

There are steeple-houses on every hand,
And pulpit-that bless and ban;
And the Lord will not grudge a single church
That is set apart for man.

For in two commandments are all the law
And the prophets under the sun,
And the first is last, and the last is first,
And the twain are verily one.

So, long as Boston shall Boston be,
And her bay tides rise and fall,
Shall Freedom stand in the Old South Church
And plead for the rights of all!
—J. G. Whittier, in the November Atlantic.

NEWS NOTES.

New York Commercial Advertiser: English young ladies are wearing "deer stalker hats," and to hear the dears talking about them is perfectly delightful.

Hawkeye: Chief Joseph has declined a general's commission in the United States army, on the ground that he was too fond of excitement to settle down to a quiet life.

Lord Falmouth is a gentleman who has been wondrously fortunate in betting during the past racing season in England. His winnings are said to amount to $172,165, exclusive of the Ascot Gold Vase.

The vote in Ohio in favor of the free banking law was only 64,853, and the vote against it was 208,957. The law merely proposed to permit the organization of banking associations without any power to issue paper currency.

A Mr. Waldo, a pious Seventh-day Baptist of Crawford county, Pennsylvania, believing, like the Jews, that Saturday is the true Sabbath, asserted his belief by performing manual labor, not of necessity, on the following day—a Sunday. Brought before a magistrate under the act of Pennsylvania of 1794, he was convicted and fined $4, but on appeal the presiding judge of the county court reversed the judgment, and held that each particular sect had the right to fix upon its own Sabbath.

The Duke of Argyle attributes the origin of a fire that broke out in Inverary Castle on the night of the 12th instant to lightning. He says that about 1 o'clock on that night he was awakened by a loud thunder-clap as if the building had been struck by the electric fluid. He got up and looked out but saw nothing unusual, and went to bed again. It was not very long after, however, that the alarm of fire was given. The cost of restoration is estimated at from £15,000 to £20,000. The castle and its contents were, it is stated, insured for £106,000, of which £80,000 applies to the building.

Mr. J. G. Whittier will be seventy years old in December. It is a pleasure to say a word in recognition of his honored life, passed in all good and kindly ways;—may he live long to enjoy the the sincere regard of his country people. It is said, in reference to Mr. Whittier's habits of literary composition, that he writes only when the mood seizes him, and then writes rapidly, his first draft suffering little alteration. He is a tall and slender person, and has a fine face, lighted by dark and piercing eyes. He lives in Amesbury, and visits much in Boston, and has never been farther from home than Washington.

Belzoni, many years ago, told this old story of the carnival at Lisbon. A mask in the merry crowd threw an orange at the carriage of the Turkish Ambassador, which struck him in the face; and that dignitary, after a slight delay, appeared before the Portuguese Minister of Foreign Affairs to complain of the indignity thus publicly offered him. "Oh," said the Minister, "such is the custom of the country on these occasions, and I hope your Excellency will pardon it." "Be it so," answered the Turk, politely, "but I was about to add, when you interrupted me, that I immediately drew my pistol and shot the fellow dead, for that is the custom of our country, and I have no doubt, from the remark you have just made, that you will overlook it."

Madame Bonaparte and Round Dances.

[Washington Cor. of the Graphic.]

Since the round dances have been dignified by a published volume attacking them as well as the published views of the wife of the General of the Army disapproving of them, it is of interest to recall who is reponsible for the introduction of the waltz into this part of the country. When Jerome Bonaparte and his suite visited Baltimore at the time he met Miss Patterson, whom he subsequently married, they taught the young people of that city the waltz. It soon became popular there, and was not long in finding its way to the national Capital. A few years ago I met a lady who was a schoolmate of Mme. Bonaparte, and she told me how the young people quickly made the new dance the fashion, and how their parents disapproved of it. With renewed gavety at the remembrance, she told me how she had stolen away one night after her father was asleep and danced all night at the ball Jerome Bonaparte gave, and how subsequently she opened a ball given by herself with a waltz with the lion of the hour. She was the daughter of Judge Samuel Chase, of Maryland, and survived all the other children of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. When I knew her she was the widow of a son of Commodore Barney.

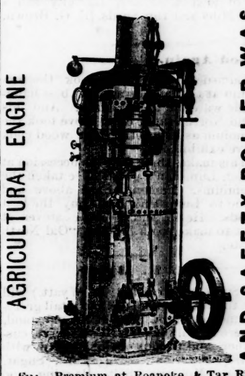
The Godwin



First Premium at Roanoke & Tar River Agricultural Society, 1875. The Gold Medal, over all other Competitors, at the North Carolina State Fair, in 1876.
It is the most perfect and economical in use. The Boiler is of new design, being vertical, yet all the heating surface is entirely covered with water, thus preventing the fire from destroying the tubes as is the case, in a few years, in all upright tubular boilers in which the fire passes through the tubes above the water line, soon destroying the exposed end of the tubes causing them to leak.

TO ALL MEN—A SPEEDY CURE.—The direful results of early indiscretion which renders marriage impossible, destroying both body and mind, general organic weakness, pain in the head or back, indigestion, palpitation of the heart, nervousness, timidity, trembings, bashfulness, blushing, languor, lassitude, dyspepsia, nervous debility, consumption, &c., with those sad effects of mind so much to be dreaded, loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society self distrust, love of solitude, &c.
MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, (loss of procreative power,—impotency), nervous excitability, palpitation, organic weakness, nervous debility, or any other disqualification, speedily relieved.
A SPEEDY CURE WARRANTED.
In recent disease immediate relief—no mercury. Persons ruining their health, wasting time with ignorant pretenders and improper treatment, driving disease into the system by that deadly poison, mercury, and causing fatal affections of the head, throat, nose or skin, liver, lungs, stomach or bowels, speedily cured. Let no false delicacy prevent you applying.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Milton Nobles to-night, at Tucker Hall.

——Nothing of public interest in any of the J. P.'s courts yesterday.

——The Mayor's Court yesterday presented only two or three trivial cases, not worth reporting.

——Abstracts of taxes were received at the Auditor's office yesterday from the counties of Nash and Bladen.

——An Indiana editor says coal oil rubbed on the head and neck of a hog will cure him of the cholera; he says he knows the fact, for he has tried it.

——The honk! honk! of the wild geese as they pass on their migrating journey southward, warn us to look out for the near approach of cold weather.

——Among the visiting lawyers at Granville court last week, the Torchlight gives the names of Messrs. T. C. Fuller, Joseph B. Batchelor and A. W. Tourgee, from Raleigh.

——There were registered in the office of the Register of Deeds for Wake county, during the month of October, 71 deeds, mortgages, liens and other instruments requiring registration.

——What portly young man was it that put himself on the poor list yesterday, and got a load of wood likely to last a long time? Does he still think the longest pole takes the persimmon?

——We publish an attractive double-colmnn advertisement of Messrs. Thos. H. Briggs & Son, a name as solid in the commercial world as any our city affords. Where much is known, but little can be told.

——Capt. T. O. Troy has been appointed depot agent at Company Shops, North Carolina railroad. Capt. Troy has for some time past been favorably known as a conductor on the road, which position he resigned to accept the agency.

——Tom Chavis, of Oberlin, was arrested under a capias yesterday and committed to jail in default of a $200 bond, charged with a misdemeanor in doing a butchering business in the market without license.

——The new advertisement of Mr. A. Creech, the widely known dry goods merchant of the "marble front" on Fayetteville street, will appear in the next issue of the NEWS. Buyers of dry goods will do well to look out for this advertisement.

North Carolina and the Congressional Committees.

Last night the northern mail brought a complete official list of standing and select committees of the House of Representatives, Forty-Fifth Congress. Our delegation is assigned as follows:

Mr. Robbins, on the Committee of Ways and Means, Committee on Expenditures in the Interior Department.

Mr. Yates, Committee on Banking and Currency, Committee on Expenditures on Public Buildings.

Mr. Davis, Committee of Claims, Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. Waddell, Committee on Post Office and Post Roads.

Mr. Steele, Committee on Agriculture, Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.

Mr. Scales, Chairman Committee on Indian Affairs, Committee on the Militia.

Mr. Vance, Chairman Committee on Patents, Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures.

Mr. Brogden, Committee on Expenditures in the Post Office Department, Select Committee on the Revison of the Laws Regulating the Counting of the Electoral Votes for President and Vice President.

A Great Book House.

One of the cheapest bookstores in the United States is that of T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chesnut St. Philadelphia, Pa. They publish the writings of Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, Miss Dupuy, Mrs. Warfield, Mrs. Dorsey, Caroline Lee Hentz, Charles Dickens, Charles Lever, Wilkie Collins, Alex. Dumas, and many other popular writers, and they would call the attention of all book buyers to the fact that they are now publishing a number of cloth and paper-covered books in attractive style, including a series of 25 cent, 50 and 75 cent novels in new covers. They are new and cheap editions of the most popular English and American authors, and are presented in an attractive style, printed from legible type, on good paper, especially adapted for general reading, hotel stands, and railroad sales, and are furnished at such a low price that they will meet with a ready sale wherever properly introduced. In fact, all of the best books by the best authors can be obtained of Messrs T. B. Peterson & Brothers, and retail and wholesale orders will be filled at lowest rates, as all their books are sold at prices to suit the times. Send for their catalogue. *

Of the Past Generation.

A correspondent writing from Lumberton, Robeson county, gives us the following:

Frederick Harden, of Robeson county, was born July 4th, 1776, served as a private soldier in Capt. McPhatter's company North Carolina volunteers, at Fort Johnson, 1812 and 1814, is in good health and performs well on the violin yet. He gets his pension of eight dollars per month from the Pension Office of the United States.

Mrs. Hill, mother of John A. Hill, of Robeson county, is now one hundred and ten years of age, and is in good health and sound memory; relates skirmishes of the "old war" between the Whigs and Tories, &c.

Interments for October.

The following comprise the list of interments in the three cemeteries connected with the city for the month of October:

Oakwood, 1 infant.
City Cemetery, 2 adults and 2 infants.
Colored Cemetery 1 adult, 3 infants.
Total white and colored, 9.

This, for a population of twelve thousand, speaks well for the health of the city or the skill of our physicians, or both.

The poor and humble, alike with the rich and powerful, find in Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup a true, tried and trusted friend. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Premiums Awarded by the North Carolina Agricultural Society--17th Annual Fair, October 16--20, 1877.

[There are some few premiums in several of the departments not yet announced, they being under the advisement of the Executive Committee.]

The Bottom of the Sea from a Balloon.

[From Chambers' Journal.]

The most enthusiastic advocates of ballooning would have hesitated to declare that submarine surveys were within the province of the aeronaut. Such, however, is the case of M. Durouf and his companion going up in a balloon on the 25th of last August, at Cherbourg, and being at an attitude of 5,000 feet, were amazed to see beneath them with startling distinctness, every rock, fissure and depression at the bottom of the sea. And yet the sea opposite Cape Levy, where the aerial voyagers obtained this bird's eye view, has an average depth of about 200 feet. So limpid did the water appear that the under currents were perceptible, while nothing would have been easier than to sketch or map the bottom of the sea.

How is This?

We gave a servant thirty cents yesterday to buy us a tin dipper and jokingly told her to get all the dippers she could for the money. She went to Brewster's and returned with three. We sent her back and exchanged them for two tin buckets. He keeps the best and cheapest goods in the city.

A Horn Snake.

There is deposited in the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture a horn snake—calopisma (or farencia) abacumo—which was sent to the department by John T. McKoy, of Fayetteville, to Col. Polk, in alcohol.

This species of snake is found only in the southern part of the United States. It is of a bluish black above, and white or reddish white beneath; said to be harmless, but this we think is a mistake, as we once saw a small dog struck by one and it died in less than an hour. The peculiarity which gives this snake its name, consists of a hard, horny shield at the end of the tail, enclosing a fine needle-like sting, which may be made to protrude beyond the horny shield by pressing hard on the tail above the horn. At the root of this sting is a bag similar to that at the root of the striking teeth of the rattlesnake or moccasin, supposed to contain poison, which is injected into whatever the snake strikes. They defend themselves or make their attacks by striking with the tail. They are now very rare.

Maryland Medical Journal.

This popular publication for November, edited by Dr. H. E. T. Manning and Dr. F. A. Ashley, is received. The price is three dollars per annum, address Manning & Ashley, proprietors, Baltimore. We suppose all our physicians take it, if not they can write for it to the above address.

The number before us contains several original papers on interesting subjects by some of the most popular medical writers of the South, besides extracts and briefs that will be read with interest by all.

Excursion to Durham.

The Baptist State Convention will be held in Durham embracing next Sunday week, 11th of November. No doubt a great many persons in Raleigh would like to go to Durham at that time, and we learn that Capt. Andrews is willing to run an excursion train from Raleigh to Durham on the day mentioned provided he has intimation that it will be desirable by any considerable number of persons. We think there will be a large number who will go if the train should be run and the price put reasonably low.

Messrs. Cooke & Wainwright.

The advertisement of this business-like firm appears in this morning's NEWS, to which we call the especial attention of dealers in groceries, fertilizers, country produce, cotton, &c. This firm has been in existence about two months, and is composed of gentlemen of long experience and a thorough knowledge of their business. Those who have dealings with them may expect honorabl treatment, reliable goods and the best attention.

Don't You Want One?

Some of the most desirable houses and lots in the City for sale. Also a lot of good farms near the city and a few Mills and Tan Yards. E. G. Brown. *

Good Again.

Lumsden's tin ware took the premium at the fair, being the best handmade ware on the grounds. And his "Old North State" cook stove took the premium as being the best wood cook stove exhibited.

This makes three fairs in succession at which Lumsden's goods have taken the premiums. Remember the above and come to Lumsden's and buy the best goods. He is selling other stoves at cost to make room for the "Old North State." *

L. R. Wyatt.

(Successor to Rand & Wyatt,) will continue the wholesale and retail grocery and cotton business at the old stand, where he will be pleased to serve customers and friends of the late firm with First Class Flour, Bacon, Lard, Sugar, Coffe, Molasses, Salt, Bagging and Ties &c., at prices to suit.

Consignments of Cotton, Flour &c., solicited for storage and sale which will have prompt attention in sales and returns. *

BUSINESS NOTICES.

How it is Done.

The first object in life with the American people is to "get rich;" the second, how to regain good health. The first can be obtained by energy, honesty and saving; the second, (good health) by using GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER. Should you be a despondent sufferer from any of the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, &c., such as Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Sour Stomach, Habitual Costiveness, Dizziness of the Head, Nervous Prostration, Low Spirits, &c., you need not suffer another day. Two doses of AUGUST FLOWER will relieve you at once. Sample Bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Positively sold by all first-class Druggists in the U. S. *

A Flying Four-Footer.

Somewhere down in the wilds of Jersey—if Jersey has any wilds these present Centennial days—one McDaniels dwells, in all the patriarchal comfort and dignity which attach to the English Lord of the Manor. He has a park, a stately mansion, groves of timber, and above all, the most famous racing stables in America. These royal establishments contain some of the finest and fastest horses in the world. Among them is Harry Bassett, a monarch of the turf, who some time ago met with an accident to one of his slender and priceless limbs. Without wasting a moment in doubtful experiments, Mr. McDaniels applied some of Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia, and in a half a day the horse was as sound as the proverbial silver dollar. No wonder McDaniels tells Dr. Giles to send skeptics to interview himself and his horse in Jersey. Pescud, Lee & Co., Agents, Raleigh, N. C.

NEW YORK, March 1876.

GILES & CO.:

Gents: I have for more than one year prescribed your Liniment, with the very best results. I have found it as an application in Inflammation of the Lungs (Pneumonia), or in Pleurisy, one of the very best. It penetrates the tissues or parts rapidly. In cases of irregularity of the heart's action depending on nervous irritation, it acts promptly. After being made acquainted with the combination of your Liniment, and seeing its action in so large a number of cases, I do not hesitate to recommend the same to both the public and the profession. Yours truly.

DRUGS.

An Open Letter to the Public.

NEW YORK, October 1, 1877.

I have devoted twenty years of patient study to the Liver and its relations to the human body. In search of a remedy which would restore it, when diseased, to its normal condition. The result of that labor has been the production of TUTTT'S LIVER PILLS.

Their popularity has become so extended and the demand so great as to induce unscrupulous parties to counterfeit them, thereby ROBBING ME of the reward, and the afflicted of their virtues.

To Caution the Public.

and protect them from vile impositions, have adopted a new label, which bears my trade-mark and notice of its entry in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, also my signature, thus;

Dr. H. Tutt M. D.

☞ TO COUNTERFEIT THIS IS FORGERY. ☜

Before purchasing, examine the label closely.

THE GENUINE TUTT'S PILLS

exert a peculiar influence on the system. Their action is prompt, and their good effects are felt in a few hours. A quarter of a century of the study of the Liver has demonstrated that it exerts a greater influence over the system than any other organ of the body, and when diseased the entire organism is deranged. It is specially for the healing of this vital organ that I have spent so many years of toil, and having found the remedy, which has proved the greatest boon ever furnished the afflicted. Shall they be deprived of its beneficent, and a vile imitation imposed upon them?

Let the honest people of America see to it that they are not defrauded. Scrutinize the label closely, see that it bears all the marks above mentioned, and buy the medicine only from respectable dealers. It can be found everywhere. Very respectfully,

W. H. TUTT,

MERCHANT TAILOR.
